The Faculty of Law is based at the Main Campus in Windhoek, and offers the following undergraduate and postgraduate programmes:

DIPLOMA PROGRAMMES
- Diploma in Arbitration and Dispute Resolution
- Diploma Paralegal Studies

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS:
- To register for a diploma programme, a candidate must hold an NSSC or equivalent qualification, obtained in not more than three (3) examination sittings, with a minimum score of 22 in five (5) subjects on the UNAM Evaluation Scale.
- English is a compulsory subject and should have been obtained at English as First/Second Language NSSC Ordinary level, symbol D or higher.
- A candidate can be admitted to the programme through the University’s Mature Age Entry Scheme, with a pass of 60% average in all papers.

The mode of teaching consists of face-to-face lectures, and tutorials. The curriculum for the diplomas consists of two years full-time study (face-to-face, in the evening), leading to a diploma at level 5 of the National Qualifications Framework (NQF). The diplomas provide access to the LLB degree.

DEGREE PROGRAMMES
- Bachelor of Laws (Honours)

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS:
- A minimum of 30 points in 5 subjects (including English) on the Namibian Senior Secondary Certificate (NSSC)
- At least a B symbol or better in English (NSSC-O Level) as a Second Language or higher.
- Recognised equivalent qualification.
- Applicants should pass the UNAM Mature Age Entry Examination with Grade 12 and a pass in all papers with 65% average.

The curriculum for the LLB degree consists of four years full-time study, leading to a professional degree at level 8 of the National Qualifications Framework (NQF). The mode of teaching consists of face-to-face lectures, tutorials and legal aid clinic practicals. The Faculty of Law does not offer any field of specialisation within this qualification, which means that all modules are compulsory, with certain electives in the final year of the programme.

POSTGRADUATE Programmes
- Master of Laws (by Thesis only) (LL.M)
- Doctor of Philosophy in Law (Ph.D)

CLOSING DATES:
